2009–2010 Lesson Plan of the Year Contest

Visit frbatlanta.org to learn more about other free economic and financial education resources designed to enhance your classroom experience.

A contest challenging middle school and high school educators in the Sixth Federal Reserve District to submit the best lesson plans featuring Federal Reserve materials

Win up to $2,500 in savings bonds

SHOW US YOUR PLAN

The contest challenges you to develop a lesson plan that features Federal Reserve publications, Web sites, and/or multimedia materials. Possible topics include the Federal Reserve, economics, and personal finance. You can also develop lesson plans for interdisciplinary areas such as mathematics, language arts, social studies, and business. A wide variety of Federal Reserve resources are available at federalreserveeducation.org to help you.

Who Can Participate?

The contest is open to middle school and high school educators in the Sixth Federal Reserve District. (See “For More Information” below.)

The entry deadline is January 29, 2010.
Winners will be notified
in March 2010.

Why Should I Enter?

- New ideas and materials
- Professional recognition
- Awards

are eligible. To see the complete contest guidelines and to find out how to submit your lesson plan, go to frbatlanta.org/about.cfm. You can also contact your local office representative for more information.

Local Awards

Up to three finalists from each Sixth District office (Atlanta, Birmingham, Jacksonville, Miami, Nashville, and New Orleans) will receive the following:

- First place—$1,000 savings bond
- Second place—$800 savings bond
- Third place—$600 savings bond

Finalists will be recognized at either an event at their local Reserve Bank office, at an educator conference, or at their school. (See the guidelines online for more information about travel reimbursement.)

District Awards

The first-place winners will then compete for the top prize and will be invited to an awards ceremony at the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta headquarters.

Savings bonds will be awarded to the district finalists as follows:

- First place—$1,500 savings bond
- Second place—$1,000 savings bond
- Third place—$750 savings bond
- Honorable mention (3)—$250 savings bond
